

Development Prospects of Polish-Chinese Economic Cooperation

China is the most dynamically growing economy in the world. With an average growth over 9% in the past 30 years, China`s impact on the world economy has been rising in geometric progression. Right now, China ranks third in terms of GDP and economists predict that it will soon develop into the world`s second largest economy.

China`s growth offers vast opportunities and challenges for Poland.

For many years, Polish-Chinese economic cooperation did not match the potential of the two countries economies. However, in the past four years the volume of bilateral trade and investments has been growing dynamically, in fact exceeding the growth rate of China`s economy.
